8 As regards protection of ~~pipe~~ ~~land~~ pipe & drainage from passing through private property I doubt if Sec 163 of the Mun. Regn applies to cases of this kind. The pipe line is not the property of the municipal council but of the Govt. There seems to be no special law to summarily recover damages for injury to Govt property & the only course open may be to resort to a civil suit

11 Section 176 of the Municipal Regulation 1906 which applies retrospectively to the 'works' for the supply of water to the city of Bangalore, provides for measures to be adopted for the protection of the said works. The Government do not seem to have handed over the 'work' to the Municipality as yet, and no rules have been framed under clause (d) of the said section rendering any interference with the pipe line penal. In the absence of any special Regulation on the point, we have to see whether the act in question can be brought under the general criminal law. If the said act constitutes any offence at all, it must be 'mischief' under sections 425 and 430 Indiar Penal Code, but it seems to me that the chief ingredient of the offence, namely an intention to cause wrongful loss on the part of the owner of the premises is wanting. I am therefore of opinion that no criminal prosecution can be sustained.

cannot be said to have agreed not to use the surface of the land for any purpose whatever The officers in charge of the works do not seem to have objected, at the time, to the heaping of earth on the spot. Nor do they seem to have informed the owner of the exact strength of the pipes and warned him of the probability of the pipes giving in by the weight of the accumulated earth In these circumstances the liability of the person to make good the cost incurred for removing the earth is doubtful

Submitted to His Highness

A case of damage caused to the water pipe in the rising main by the earth excavated from a well in the compound of Sir P N Krishna Murti's bungalow at Bangalore having been thrown on the pipe line running through his compound, having come to the notice of Government, it was considered necessary to frame rules for the protection of water and drainage works erected by Government, under section 176(d) of the Municipal Regulation of 1906, as there were no rules or bye-laws prohibiting private owners from interfering with or damaging water supply or other pipes passing within their premises

2 The Department of Public Works was consulted as to the points on which provision should be made in the rules, and the Chief Engineer proposed a set of rules adopted from those in force in the Madras Municipality for sufficiently safeguarding against unauthorized interference with water-pipes and sewers

3 The rules had received the approval of the late Second Councillor When, however, the papers came up before me, I thought it better to obtain the views of the present First and Second Councillors also and they were consulted accordingly

4 The First Councillor states that the draft rules may be passed omitting the first two rules (which relate to the laying of pipes, &c , by the Water Supply Department), as they do not fall within the purview of section 176(d) of the Municipal Regulation, which refers to the proper management and maintenance of works of a permanent nature. The Second Councillor agrees with the First Councillor in thinking that the first two rules should be om

5. I agree with the Councillors and submit for sanction the rules as revised. The draft Notification may be approved.

6. I may mention in this connection that an outlay of Rs.99-13-9 incurred in removing the earth thrown on the pipe line in Sir P.N. Krishna Murti's bungalow by departmental labour, will be debited to the annual maintenance estimate of the Chamarajendra Water Works.

7. The question of introducing the two rules now proposed to be omitted will be taken up separately for consideration.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward the accompanying correspondence relating to a bill of Rs. 99-13-9 sent for payment to Sir P N Krishnamurti, being the cost of removing the earth excavated from a well, and which earth was thrown by his workmen on to the pipe line running through his compound and which caused some of our water pipes in the Rising Main to burst owing to the extra weight thus thrown upon them. The Executive Engineer, Water Supply and Stores Division, explained in his letter No. 952 of the 7th March 1907 to Sir Krishnamurti why it was necessary to get the heap of earth removed by departmental labour and requested him to settle the bill The amount has not yet been paid nor any reply received to the reminders sent by the Executive Engineer

II The Municipal Vice President states in his letter No. 1 15 of the 6th instant (put up) in reply to an enquiry made by me whether there is any bye-law prohibiting private owners from interfering with or in any way damaging water supply or sewage pipes passing through their properties,

"that no bye-law has yet been framed under Section 163 of the "Municipal Regulation of 1906, though private owners may be "proceeded against, for damages caused to pipes within their "premises". I consider that it is very desirable that definite orders should be issued to the Municipalities to prosecute persons interfering with or damaging any water-supply or sewage-pipe lines passing through their properties in the Cities of Bangalore and Mysore, and to request that you will be so good as to obtain the early orders of Government on the subject

III. The outlay of Rs 99-13-9 referred to in para 1 above will be charged off, as a special case, to the annual maintenance estimate of the Chamarajendra Water Works as there is no probability of the amount being recovered from Sir P Narrishnamurti.
